

Current challenges - How we're managing for COVID-19:

Many staff do not accept COVID as real, believing Africans are immune, making protocol compliance tough. Early on, we locked down staff, but this proved untenable, especially in Calabar. Monitoring behavior 24/7 is impossible, enforcing hygiene rules stresses staff-management relations. We're doing the best we can but it's not easy! No testing facilities in Cross River State mean true numbers are unknown. Mask-wearing, distancing from animals & each other, and rigorous cleaning of animal food complicate already-long days, especially in rainy season. Our primates are also susceptible to COVID.

Drill Ranch is closed to the public for the 1st time in history - no donations, no guest fees, and no chance for public and school advocacy about Nigeria's special wildlife.

The show must go on, and Zack has successfully led the team thru this time. So far, so good! More staff now live in camp, with free meals as a benefit for extra hours.

Progress in 2020: New Animal Food Barn

The day the giant achi tree (photo above) fell in 2018 (same day Senior Drill Keeper James Ebe died in the village) it destroyed our animal food storage & prep area (plus other structures). The new Animal Food Barn is underway: posts, rafters & purlins are up. The drive-thru design eases food unloading - over 1 ton daily! The cooking shed for boiling beans, coco yams & more for the animals is relocated next to the barn. Our improved, food washing procedures are accommodated in the design.

In Calabar, our small, food room got a makeover: new steel mesh doors and windows to safeguard animal food from city rats! Nasiru (left, with keeper Edet) did all welding and fabrication on site for the Calabar food room and Afi food barn.

Costs: COVID restricted transport for months, increasing costs of all goods, including food. Recently, anti-police violence, #EndSARS protests swept the country, furthering inflation. In Calabar, mass rioting and looting occurred, police went into hiding, curfew was imposed. The army provides some security but bandits on the highways further drive up food prices. This affects all our purchases and for our staff and their families. Imported goods are scarce. Crime is way up.

If you can, please HELP! Mail a check to Pandrillus Foundation, P.O. Box 10082, Portland, OR 97296, or online at <https://www.pandrillus.org/contact/donate/> We thank you!!
